

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and circuit are disclosed for enabling an oscillator circuit to oscillate a predetermined period of time following completion of a power-up operation. The 5 circuit may include a counter having a control for receiving a control signal from a system power-on-reset circuit, and a clock input. A ring oscillator has an output coupled to the clock input of the counter.